Foreword

Back of every number, name of person, and name of organization found in the reports, statistics, and directories in the 1949 Mennonite Yearbook are men and women who are active in the work of the church and who are interested in its welfare. When one translates numbers and names into human activity, then the Mennonite Yearbook comes to life and reveals the intense devotion and consecration of members of the church to the cause of Christ. In the years past the Mennonite Yearbook has been just this to its readers, and we believe that the 1949 Mennonite Yearbook will serve this same purpose again to the Mennonite Church of today.

As a reference book for various kinds of information about the church, the Yearbook continues as an invaluable guide and source. In every home in the Mennonite Church should be found a copy of the Mennonite Yearbook. Parents, young people, Sunday-school workers, summer Bible school workers, home and foreign missionaries, bishops, ministers, and deacons, all will find the Yearbook indispensable.

The 1949 Mennonite Yearbook contains the list of bishops, ministers, and deacons giving dates of birth and ordination. This list appeared in 1945 for the first time. It is planned that, beginning with the 1950 Mennonite Yearbook, this same information will be published for ordinations of each current year. The Home Missions section has been rearranged according to conference districts, and an attempt was made to include every mission point, including mission Sunday schools. Mission points that have been omitted should be reported to the editor.

Again this year we wish to express our sincere appreciation for the fine co-operation and support of all church officials. Constructive suggestions have been received from a number of ministers and church workers. Some of these suggestions have been incorporated in this year's Yearbook. Suggestions are always welcome and much appreciated.

We trust that the 1949 Mennonite Yearbook will continue to find a larger welcome than previous issues from our homes, our ministry, church officials, lay workers, and our young people. From its pages come not only information and statistics but inspiration and a challenge to all to do their part in helping to continue faithfully in the service for Christ and the church. May the name of the Lord be honored and His work extended through this publication.

Mennonite General Conference

By John L. Stauffer, Moderator

During the past year the Executive Committee of Mennonite General Conference has had several meetings to handle routine matters and in some instances counseled with a few of the committees that are at work.

The Mennonite World Conference is now past history. It was the conviction of the Executive Committee that they should help sponsor this conference inasmuch as some of our brethren and sisters had been serving abroad and had come in contact with Mennonites in France, Holland, Luxemburg, Poland, and Germany. It was envisioned that the foreign delegates should be privileged to obtain firsthand contact with American Mennonitism. It is too early to be able to evaluate properly the results accruing from this venture. We feel, however, that the conference afforded an opportunity for the delegates to come in contact with Mennonite principles and practices which they have lost. Expressions from the foreign delegates appear at this time to confirm the hope of the Executive Committee.

The various committees are at work endeavoring to solve the task or tasks assigned them and to bring recommendations to the next Mennonite General Conference that will be helpful in the solution of various existing problems and to further the witness of the Mennonite Church. The General Problems Committee conducted a two-day meeting in Chicago to which the moderators and secretaries of the various Mennonite conferences were invited. The theme of the conference related to the implications of Romans 12:2, especially as it affected the question of Christian attire. A fine Christian spirit prevailed with frank open discussions. It is the writer's conviction that the great Biblical truth of nonconformity to the world has been deepened in the minds of those who attended.

One of the large tasks confronting your Executive Committee is the arranging for the 1949 Mennonite General Conference as to the nature of the meeting, the place, and the program. All three of these elements become an involved problem. We covet the prayers of the brotherhood on behalf of the attempted solution. Should the next General Conference be an executive session of delegates only? Or, should it be a mass meeting? Both plans have their advantages and disadvantages. A session of delegates would not only include the hearing of the reports of the various committees, but would also permit the arranging of a program of special interest and help to the ministry of the church. The mass meeting would include the hearing of the reports and would require the arrangement of a program of a devotional and inspirational nature. In the former program the ministers would especially profit from it, while in the mass meeting the appeal would be mostly to the membership that attends. The nature of the conference will largely determine the nature of the program and also the place where the conference should be held.

Not many of our communities have sufficient membership and other facilities to accommodate a mass meeting of Mennonite General Conference. We have had suggestions that the conference might be taken to a place like Winona Lake or Chicago where there would be ample housing facilities and auditoriums of sufficient size for a mass meeting. People other than ourselves would then arrange for the feeding of the people. Such a place and arrangement would eliminate the housing, feeding, and assembly problems that have become almost a burden upon communities, but the cost of such an arrangement hardly seems consistent with our belief in the simple life and the stewardship of values. Against the latter suggestion can be placed the benefits that accrue from a mass meeting, the opportunity to become better acquainted with the membership from East and West, and the increased interest created within the membership concerning the workings of the various boards and committees.

The Executive Committee solicits your prayers that the will of the Lord may be discovered and fulfilled for the coming biennial meeting of Mennonite General Conference.

FOREIGN SERVICE UNITS

(Administered by "Mennonite Relief Committee," the Relief and Service Committee of the Board)

Belgium

1. Work opened in 1945.
2. Number of workers on the field
3. Type of work done: General relief, Service to Prisoners of War.

Poland

1. Work opened in 1946.
2. Number of workers on the field
3. Type of work done: Farm operation, Baby feeding, General relief.

Ethiopia

1. Work opened in 1945.
2. Number of workers on the field
3. Type of work done: Operation of hospital, public health, literacy, schoolteaching.

The above tables and figures give a comprehensive picture of the wide distribution of our church's missionary and charitable interests administered by the General Board. The number of workers, while not by any means as large as it ought to be, is still encouraging.

Vision

The increase of missionary interest throughout the church is heartening. An ever-increasing number of the best young people of the church are preparing themselves for missionary service and are offering their lives for a full-time ministry. The feeling is evident in many quarters that if we would be Christian we must make something significant of our lives. May this spirit grow and spread!

There is no paucity of vision among our people. At various times during the year people have spoken to me of their convictions that mission work be opened in Sicily, Japan, Alaska, Russia, and in other countries of Europe and Asia. If it is true that where there is no vision the people perish, the converse that where vision abounds there is strong spiritual life must likewise be true. By this test our new generation is very much alive.

We are such practical business men. We are afraid always that our heightened vision may turn out to be merely visionary. We must, naturally, be wise and good stewards, but we dare not reduce the mission program to a mere business basis. It is true that as a church we are not doing as much as we should. Individuals are not giving sacrificially. There are still far too many in the church who are living selfishly, whose lives are not consecrated to the Lord's service. There is far too much potential that has not been released.

Suppose our membership in general would begin giving a tithe of their income. We have no adequate idea of just how much money this would release, but the amount would be very large. If for buildings and institutions the church would begin to contribute from capital funds and release a tithe of the income for expansion and general support of the program? We would need hundreds of volunteers. The witness of the church would be tremendously expanded and Christ would be glorified.

Voluntary Service

A year of service for my church. There is a great dynamic in this slogan. Some object because they say, "All our life is for the church." This is the same argument used against the tithe, "All our money belongs to the Lord." But, only one dare use this argument who has already given a tenth. Certainly it may never be used as an excuse for giving less. So one may not say that "All our life belongs to the church," until he has given at least a year. Certainly many young people will be led through this initial and temporary service to give all their lives in full-time service. It does work out this way in practice.

Social Service

More of our young people are interested in social service and a number are taking training in this field. With our world-wide relief service and our emphasis on voluntary service, this is inevitable. We are glad for this evidence of a "heightened social consciousness." But our church must be on her guard lest this degenerate into a mere social service; lest it become an end in itself. Helping the suffering and dispossessed in the name of Christ has good witness value if the witness objective is consciously held. As such it will reveal the love of Christ. He will be made attractive and the way will be opened for the message of salvation through faith in Christ the Saviour. Social service thus motivated and guided by this objective has great missionary significance. Let us keep the Gospel-proclaiming, Christian-serving, and church-building aspects of our program in full balance and in a vital relationship. This is New Testament missions.

Mennonite Relief Committee

By John L. Horst, Chairman

The present personnel of the Mennonite Relief Committee is as follows: John L. Horst, Chairman; C. L. Graber, Recording Secretary; Levi C. Hartzler, Executive Secretary; Orie O. Miller; H. S. Bender; Ernest Bennett; John H. Mosemann; J. D. Graber. Since this Committee looks after the relief interests of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, the treasurer of the Board usually meets with the Committee, and when major projects are up for consideration, meetings are held jointly with the Executive Committee of the Mission Board.

The Committee has directly sponsored and supported work in three foreign fields: Belgium, Poland, and Ethiopia; and has also had interests in the work in India and China. It has sponsored Mennonite service units in the homeland, has given aid to foreign students and C.P.S. students, and has given support to relief and refugee work of the Mennonite Central Committee, which has served as a clearinghouse for funds, material aid, and personnel for our foreign units.

1. Belgium.—During the past summer about a dozen people continued the building work that was inaugurated in 1947 at Bullange, a badly destroyed village in the Province of Liege in the eastern part of the country, close to the German line. This project was discontinued in the fall of 1948, and now a staff of only three remain in the country, maintaining a headquarters in Brussels, and distributing clothing and ministering otherwise to displaced persons in various camps scattered throughout the country. Our workers are co-operating with Pastor Charles Grikman who works among the Latvians and Russians. Our committee is also supporting two native workers who help in this ministry. One of these is a brother to Ivan Magal, who has been in this country for a few years. The work of the builders' unit in Belgium drew forth high commendation from the Belgian people who were helped, and the other phases of the Belgian work have been well received and have been the means of helping many people. The Mission Board is considering the possibility of opening up mission work in Belgium as the Lord leads.

2. Poland.—The work here has been a combination of farm operations and direct relief. The farm work will need to be moved or discontinued and the relief project is now in a comparatively new section around Nasielsk, about 35 miles north of Warsaw. Our committee plans to discontinue its direct work in this field in the spring, after which the Mennonite Central Committee will carry on at least some phases of the work. Included in the activities here was work among Mennonites, quite a number of whom were allowed to go to Germany to join the refugees there. The Mennonite Central Committee will continue to work with the Mennonites in Poland.

3. Ethiopia.—This unit was opened in 1945, with a five-year contract to do hospital and health work. Successful hospital and clinic work has been carried on at Nazareth, about sixty miles from the capital, Addis Ababa. At present there is a staff of nine workers at the hospital, but since permission has been granted to open mission work, two or three of these will go to the mission area at Deder, about 300 miles from Nazareth. A new phase of work was opened last fall when two sisters were added to our unit to teach in the government schools at Addis Ababa. The hospital has been visited by Emperor Haile Selassie I a number of times, and our work has been highly appreciated by the people and the government. There will be opportunity to expand in the schoolteaching phase of the work, and at least one new teacher will be sent this fall.

4. Relief Work in Other Areas.—In many fields the Mennonite Relief Committee co-operates with the Mennonite Central Committee in helping in finances, and our branch of the church, as of January 1, 1949, furnished $5 out of the 192 workers in the fields not under the direct sponsorship of our committee.

5. Aid to C.P.S. and Foreign Students.—Our Committee is continuing to give some aid to students in these categories in our own Mennonite colleges. The sum of $2,000 was appropriated for foreign student aid this year, and there are five students in college who are eligible.

6. Service Units.—Sixteen service units were operated under the direction of our committee during the past year. Most of these were short-term units. A more complete report is given following this article by Brother Laurence Horst, director during the past year. This work will no doubt be expanded during the coming year, since the Board now has a full-time Service and Relief Director, Brother Levi C. Hartzler, who assumed his duties the latter part of January.

7. Work Among the Refugees.—Our committee supported the work of transportation of refugees from Europe to the Americas by giving proportionately in gifts and loans. Over 6,000 were moved from Europe to Canada, Paraguay, Uruguay, and the United States during the past year. About 8,000 are still waiting to find new homes.

8. Gifts-in-Kind.—The response of our constituency in gifts of food, clothing, shoes, utensils, etc., has been generous, and the reports of canning and clothing projects are quite encouraging.

Finances.—Last year a suggested giving budget for our churches was set at the average contribution of 50 cents per month per member. We are glad to report that the contributions for relief and refugees coming to the Elkhart office during the year ending December 1, 1948, totaled $222,940.78, which shows that our budget was reached. Over half of this was given for work among the refugees. The same monthly quota has been set for the current year. We trust that our people will respond as generously as in the past.

The war has been over for three and a half years, but the needs are continuing. May we meet the challenge of present and future needs in the spirit of compassion that our Saviour showed to the needy.

Mennonite Service Units in 1948

By Laurence Horst, Director

Mennonite Service Units operate under the Mennonite Relief Committee of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. The Mennonite Service Unit Director was appointed by the Mennonite Relief Committee. At the Mission Board meeting at Eureka, Illinois, in June, 1948, the office of Service and Relief Secretary was created. This secretary is appointed in the same way as the General Secretary of the Board and serves as executive secretary of the Relief Committee and is an associate member of the Board Executive Committee.

The purposes of Mennonite Service Units are to provide a Christian service outlet for every youth in the church who feels called of God to give a term of service for Christ and the church; to provide an avenue of service equal to the length of time required by the government for military training and to bring missionary conviction and zeal into the hearts of hundreds of our youth and to the home congregations which they represent.

Service Units

For the year ending September 1, 1948

1. Hospital Service Unit—Kansas City General Hospital, Kansas City, Mo. A Service Unit of seven served as orderlies and nurse-aides in this 600-bed hospital. They carried a testimony for Christ to the bedside of the sick, and helped in the Christian service program of the city planned by the resident workers.

2. Hannibal-Pea Ridge, Mo., Service Unit, a team of four men, sang together as a quartet, helped in revival meetings in Mennonite churches of the community, and worked on the mission farm at Pea Ridge.

3. Millersburg, Ohio, Service Unit (Camp Ebenezer). Eleven young people operated Camp Ebenezer, a camp for Negro youth selected by the service unit serving in Youngstown, Ohio. The children were taught in Bible school, supervised work, educational recreation, and organized play. Thirty-two made decisions for Christ.

4. Cleveland, Ohio, Service Unit. This Unit worked among the Negro people. They surveyed the Gladstone community and operated a summer Bible school. The Service Unit repeated the same service in the Mayflower area. The total enrollment in the two summer Bible schools was 679. Nine decided for Christ; 1600 homes were contacted in the community survey work, and 206 Bibles were distributed.

5. Youngstown, Ohio, Service Unit. Five young people served among the Negro people of this industrial city. The summer was spent in the community survey, summer Bible school, and arts and crafts.

6. Mountain Home, Arkansas, Service Unit. This unit assisted resident workers in summer Bible school, community survey, Sunday school, etc. The Unit was instrumental in opening a new field of work.

7. Culp, Arkansas, Service Unit. This unit of five young people served in four summer Bible schools, visited homes of the community, served in the field Sunday schools, and in building and repair service on the field, and in the Blanchard Springs Camp.

8. Akers-Allemands, Louisiana, Service Unit. This unit served among the French fishermen and Negroes of the Gulf Coast. The Unit aided the resident workers in summer Bible school, survey of community, Sunday school, and prayer service.

9. Piney Woods School Service Unit. The school serves the underprivileged Negro. The Service Unit taught classes in home economics, gave instruction in cataloging books for the new library, held evening Bible study classes for the Negro youth, and served in the Negro youth camp. Fourteen souls decided for Christ.

10. Upper Peninsula, Michigan, Service Unit. This unit served in the summer Bible school program.

11. Northern Minnesota Service Unit. The Unit served the Finns, Scandinavians, and American Indians in four summer Bible schools, visited 106 homes, held 31 Unit prayer meetings, and 52 cottage prayer services. Three souls accepted Christ.

12. Los Angeles, California, Service Unit. This Unit served in two summer Bible schools—one at the 63rd Street Church and the other in the colored work. It contacted 900 homes with religious literature distributing 1500 tracts, had club work, aided in evangelistic services for the Negroes, and served in the building program.

13. Pinckney, Michigan, Service Unit. The workers at the Gospel Mennonite Mission planned the work for this Unit. It served in summer Bible schools at Pinckney and Hamburg, in home visitation contacted 45 homes, served in the Sunday-school program, and in the domestic service of the home.

14. Chicago, Illinois, Service Unit. The Mexican Mission was served by this service unit. Members taught summer Bible school, visited homes of those who had formerly attended the Mexican Mission, and encouraged them to come to the church services. Considerable literature evangelism work was carried on.

15. Kansas City Children's Home Service Unit. The regular work of a children's Home occupied the major time of this unit. In addition the Unit did some work in painting walls and cleaning floors, and served in visitation work, jail service, and extension Sunday school.

16. West Liberty, Ohio, Children's Home Service Unit. This unit assisted in the regular work of a children's home. A part of the Unit served in two summer Bible schools of the community.

This report does not tell the whole story of the faithful work and prayer of the Service Unit Family, but will give some idea of the consecration of the young people who made this service possible, and will show some of the deep missionary zeal and interest that has been aroused in these youth who have so unselfishly given of their time to this service. The work of these youth through the year shows two things: first, that we have the kind of young people who can be trusted to do spiritual service, and second, that they will respond to the opportunities of service as we open the doors.

The Peace Problems Committee in 1948

By John A. Hostetler

During the year 1948 the Peace Problems Committee had four meetings, February 18, April 15, July 16, and October 15, to review the work for which it is responsible and to keep abreast of current issues affecting our position on war, peace, and nonresistance. This year's work was marked by concerns in three major areas: (1) keeping abreast of the implications of the new peacetime draft law, the Selective Service Act of 1948, (2) promoting a flow of needed and wholesome literature on nonresistance, and (3) stimulating interest in active peace teaching and peace-team work.

The chairman of the Committee, H. S. Bender, was in Europe the greater part of 1948 contacting European Mennonites on a ministry which included the furtherance of the peace testimony. The Committee greatly appreciates his services rendered in this capacity and looks forward to a continuation of such services. This work was carried on and is being further carried on through the Mennonite Central Committee Peace Section.

The personnel of the committee remained the same as the previous year except for the addition of four co-opted members. The Committee at its February 18 meeting took action to co-opt the service and help of four young men to assist in the field of peace education and indoctrination within our constituencies, and the brethren Richard C. Detweiler, John A. Hostetler, Ernest W. Lehman, and Daniel Kauffman were added as co-opted members.

Our Position on Peacetime Conscription

We deeply regret the passage of the Selective Service Act of 1948 and commit ourselves to prayer and other ways of influence consistent with our Christian profession, to the end that this law may be repealed with God's overruling hand. The Committee regrets also the Act's limited definition of conscience, but deeply appreciates its recognition of, and provision for, all whose sense of obligation to God forbids their participation in military training or service. Subject to our highest loyalty to God, we deem it Scriptural and right to obey the laws of the government. For this reason the Committee advises our young men, subject also to this highest loyalty, to register under the present law.

Since the Selective Service Act of 1948 provides for deferment of all young men who cannot conscientiously perform combatant or non-combatant service, and since for some past years there has been a growing sentiment that all our young people should be encouraged to contribute a special period of service to the Lord and the church, the Committee unanimously resolved that every able-bodied young man between the ages of 19-25 as well as young women in our brotherhood not already in full-time church work, or in preparation for such work, should be encouraged to contribute voluntarily a minimum of one year's services through facilities provided by the church.

In line with the committee's responsibility to General Conference, it has continued to inform our ministerial brethren and the constituency on all implications of the present draft Act, its details, and its regulations, and it stands ready to serve our young men in all problems relating to the Act.

Peace Literature

Publications now in progress are Christian Youth and the State, by Melvin Gingerich; The Mennonite Church in World War II, by Guy F. Hershberger; Heroes of Nonresistance, by Elizabeth Bauman; and What of Noncombatant Service? by Melvin Gingerich. Books in the process of revision and reprinting are Can Christians Fight? by Guy F. Hershberger; a condensation of War, Peace, and Nonresistance, (Hershberger) for the use in study groups, and Nonresistance in Colonial Pennsylvania, by Wilbur Bender. A very helpful outline for the study of nonresistance, published during the year, is, Studies in Nonresistance by John E. Lapp. Ford Berg continues to edit the bimonthly peace page in the Gospel Herald.

Peace Teaching

Many of our congregations were concerned during the year as to where they can get help in teaching nonresistance, particularly to young people's groups. It was in response to this concern that a peace team of three members, consisting of John A. Hostetler, Willard Hunsberger, and John H. Yoder, was organized and functioned during the summer months. The team was available to serve in such capacity as was desired by local congregations, usually helping to arrange week-end conferences on peace in strategic locations for the benefit of churches in the vicinity.

Nine week-end institutes were held in the central states from Kalona, Iowa, to Springs, Pa. It was the purpose of the team to remain in each community from four to five days and in each case help arrange with the local leadership a program on Biblical nonresistance, using also local persons on the program. The team carried with it a full line of peace literature and books related to peace and nonresistance.

The experience of this new type of peace education has been favorably received by the constituency. The need for clarifying our position in the light of present movements, such as fundamentalism and pacifism, is again before us. The Committee plans to continue this type of peace education and looks forward to similar peace-team work in the coming year. It likewise is happy to learn of the peace-team work done by the three colleges, and it stands ready to assist and encourage congregations desiring to sponsor peace institutes and study groups.

Finances

The balance of cash on hand on October 20, 1947, was $4,702.62. Receipts during the year amounted to $2,862.48, and disbursements amounted to $5,021.72, thus leaving a balance of $2,543.38 on October 13, 1948. In view of prospective financial needs for services and facilities needed in connection with the enactment of peacetime conscription, the treasurer, C. L. Graber, was authorized by the Committee to make an appeal to congregations on a quota basis of 20 cents per member for the coming year.

Responsibility

The Peace Problems Committee is seeking to follow the instructions given to it by General Conference in 1925: (1) promote the non-resistant doctrine of the Word of God in our constituency; (2) represent the church to government in the practical expression of non-resistance as is necessary from time to time; and (3) witness to other persons and groups seeking light on the teaching of nonresistance. The Committee invites the counsel and suggestion of any brethren who feel led to share such information as would be useful in our continuing peace testimony. The continued interest and prayers of the brotherhood are solicited for a further revelation of the mission of the church in its witness to peace and good will.

The Mennonite Central Committee in 1948

By Ernest W. Lehman, Publicity Director

This year a growing emphasis toward the rehabilitation type of relief work has been evident. In many places the witness of relief in the Name of Christ has opened doors for more direct spiritual ministry. We thank the Lord that He has continued to call out consecrated workers to carry forth the work and has also led the churches in the homeland to support the work with money and materials.

Various significant developments during the year were the opening of Brook Lane Farm, a mental hospital in Maryland under M.C.C. direction; the Mennonite World Conference held in August, 1948 under M.C.C. sponsorship; the enlargement of the Voluntary Service program, particularly for our one-year volunteers; and peace-team work during June and July, 1948; the movement of large numbers of refugees to Canada and South America; the settlement of Mennonites in Uruguay.

I. Relief Section

As of December 31, 1948, there were 217 relief workers serving in 20 foreign countries. During 1948 a total of 155 relief workers have returned from the field and 84 have gone out. The records show that in December, 1943, there were 36 workers abroad; in December, 1944, there were 94; in December, 1945, there were 109; in December, 1946, there were 238; in December, 1947, there were 288. The largest number on the field at any one time was July, 1947, when the total was 317.

Total cash contributions for relief purposes during the year were $793,119.36.

Many of the services involved in relief work are intangible and difficult to evaluate. Our workers continually endeavor to give a spiritual witness and service that uplifts the discouraged soul and gives hope to the future, both here and hereafter. The answer to the world's need is first and foremost Christ. Human rehabilitation consists not only of feeding the hungry and clothing the naked, but also of visiting the sick and satisfying the afflicted soul.

A. The Far East. A community center project under M.C.C. direction in Japan has been authorized by the United States Government officials. It is taking considerably longer to open this project than had been anticipated. A prefabricated barrack has been ordered and it is planned that personnel will be available about the time when the barrack is received. One worker is serving in Okinawa under the direction of Church World Service.

During the year it was necessary to move the China Relief Headquarters from Kaifeng to Shanghai because of the advance of Communist forces into the Kaifeng area. This was a very difficult experience for the workers, not only because of the anxiety of the evacuation under such circumstances but even more because the work to which they had given their energy was thus brought to a close. This move made it necessary to find new work of significant value. One project thus opened is the Hengyang orphanage in which 250 war orphans are cared for. At Chinkiang a large refugee feeding program and medical clinic are carried on. This city is only 80 miles from the area of present military conflict and therefore there are many war refugees who need help. Another medical clinic and feeding program is located at Tsingtao. Still another medical project is located near Taiwan on the island of Formosa. This work is among underprivileged aboriginals living in the surrounding mountains. During the year the relief worker staff in China assisted 22 Mennonite refugees, originally from Russia, in migrating from China to Canada. It is felt that China is one of the most needy areas of our total relief program.

In the Philippine Islands the new hospital at Bangued has been completed and is being used. In addition to the hospital, there are several services being carried on at Bangued, including milk distribution, reading room facilities, and community recreation. Five workers are also engaged in teaching in mountain areas, and two are assisting in the Abiertas House of Friendship in Manila.

The work in India has consisted largely in assisting refugees both in India and Pakistan. Medical service has been prominent in the work. There have also been projects in which native women are supervised in remaking United States clothing for use by women in India. A number of workers have been assigned to teaching positions in schools for missionary children and in mission schools. The physical need in Pakistan seems greater than in India. Both wheat and clothing have been shipped to this area and distributed by the workers. A relief distribution has been organized for Jammu and Kashmir including clothing, powdered milk, bandages, and vitamin tablets.

A project of material aid distribution and medical service has been undertaken on the island of Sumatra, due to political difficulties in getting a relief program under way in the island of Java. Effort is made to serve in both the Dutch and Indonesian areas.

B. Middle East. The continuing relief program in Ethiopia is centered at Nazareth and sponsored by the M.R.C. Both the clinic and hospital serve a rather large area in addition to the city itself. In addition to the medical service, two teachers have been assigned to Government schools at Addis Ababa. A high light of the past year's experience for the workers was the official approval by the Emperor Haile Selassie I of the mission project within Ethiopia. The Eastern Mennonite Mission Board is going ahead with the program.

The recent hostilities between Arabs and Jews in Palestine have led the M.C.C. to contribute in a small way to this need. One worker has been assigned to this area, to investigate needs and to assist in whatever way possible. Under the anticipated program the United Nations and International Children's Fund will furnish the supplies needed.

C. Europe. The M.C.C. relief activity in Austria has been centered in Vienna and consists largely in the distribution of food and clothing. Special emphasis is given to food package distribution to released hospital patients, and people with active tuberculosis who have no income. This help to persons both needy and physically handicapped is a very worth-while service.

In Hungary the general food and clothing distribution continued until the work was terminated recently. This became necessary because of governmental regulations in which the freedom to distribute as a private religious agency was restricted.

Until October 1 of this year all Mennonite relief activity in Poland was centered in the area of Danzig. Both food and clothing were distributed. In the city of Tezew weekly and biweekly distribution of food was given to about one thousand people, including nursing and expectant mothers, small children and tuberculosis patients. Since the beginning of October the headquarters has been at Nasielsk, about 55 kilometers north of Warsaw. This particular area in Poland has received very little help since the war. Four tractors on the Rolin Farm have plowed the tillable soil, and in addition assisted some 60 farmers in the community in plowing and threshing.

The M.C.C. relief activity in Italy has been centered at Torre Pellice through most of the year. Material aid distribution has consisted of giving family parcels, distributions to baby clinics, and institutions for the aged. During the summer months two children's colonies were operated in which 100 needy children were given three weeks of rest, recreation, wholesome food, and religious instruction. At the same time some fifteen Waldensian young people were selected to assist in teaching the children.

In Germany there has been a gradual shift from emergency relief to that of rehabilitation. Although there are still many needy people, much progress has been made in the direction of economic self-sufficiency. Instead of feeding the masses as was necessary earlier, special needy classes are concentrated upon more directly. During the so-called "hunger months" of February to May more than 141,000 individuals in the French and British Zones were given supplementary food on an average, of three times a week at M.C.C. feeding centers. This does not include the food assigned to Christenpflicht in the American Zone, Mennonite refugee camps, Mennonite committees in the French and British Zones, and to Evangelical Hilfswerk. This year more old people were given food than last year since the Hoover feeding program included mostly children of school age. In the British Zone, students in five universities were given food. Community center services consisting of sewing rooms, shoe repair shops, reading rooms, community recreation, and various other services are being carried on at Heilbron, Krefeld, Hamburg, Neustadt, and Kaiserslautern. The underlying motives at these centers is to provide self help to the people and to interpret the spiritual significance that accompanies material aid distribution In the Name of Christ.

Our workers in France are engaged in children's colony work at Nancy where older children are cared for, and at Weiler for younger children. The witness and effort in these places of service is greatly appreciated. Impressions are being made on these children which will doubtless prove fruitful.

Building and material aid distribution were both continued in Belgium giving help to needy classes and individuals. A unique service was done among the families of collaborators. The builders' unit in Belgium was closed in November, 1948.

One focal point of activity in Holland has been the Heerwegen Children's Home where orphan children are cared for. The office in Amsterdam also continues its liaisonship with the Dutch Mennonites.

D. Latin America. Services in Puerto Rico continued during the past year much the same as in previous years. The hospital, laboratory, medical, and dental clinics and medical social work continue to be the chief emphasis, while sewing and needlework among the women, public health and community improvement, and agricultural experimentation are also stressed.

During the year the M.C.C. supported four workers in Brazil serving in a spiritual ministry among the Mennonites. Two have been stationed at Sao Paulo and two at Curitiba.

The Mennonite colonies in Paraguay continue as a center of M.C.C. concern and activity. During the past year 2,445 refugees from Europe have been absorbed into these colonies. The M.C.C. is deeply interested in the industrial development of these colonies, making possible a more nearly self-sufficient economy there. There have also been some relief projects planned to benefit directly the Paraguayan people, as a token of gratitude to that country and people for having received the Mennonite refugee immigrants.

Only recently has Uruguay been opened as a homeland for Mennonites and therefore also a field of service for foreign M.C.C. workers. The needs there as in Paraguay are principally those related to agricultural and industrial developments.

E. Material Aid Program. This year again the need for more concentrated types of materials was stressed: meat, flour, dried vegetables and fruits, clothing, shoes, soap, Christmas bundles. During the year contributions have been somewhat below the previous year but continue in substantial quantity. Materials with total value of $1,647,468.35 were dispensed. Of this the tonnage consisted of: 2,872 tons of food, 296 tons of clothing and soap, 125 tons of tools, 2½ tons garden seeds, 6 tons religious literature, 32 tons Christmas bundles, 6½ tons schoolbags, 1 ton toys.

II. Mennonite Aid Section

When the World War II refugee migration efforts are completed, 1948 may stand as a peak year in the number of Mennonite refugees moved to new homelands.

Our European centers of refugee work are Gronau camp in the British Zone, and Bachnang in the American Zone. These camps provide places where the preliminary screening and interviewing can be done and also where care can be given to those in poor health or to those who for other reasons cannot immediately immigrate. Canada continues to be the country of first preference for the resettlement of Russian Mennonites and during the year more were able to enter Canada than any other country. Although the United States passed a Displaced Persons act in June, no Mennonite refugees were able to enter by the end of the year.

Effort has been continued in assisting the South American colonies. The chief emphasis in aid to Paraguay has been to supply land and equipment with which the people can earn their living and establish themselves economically.

The opening of Uruguay for a Mennonite settlement marks a milestone in Mennonite migration and resettlement. These people are now housed in temporary quarters but it is hoped that a long-range settlement program can soon be adopted by the M.C.C. and representatives of the people themselves.

Mennonite Resettlement Finance, Inc., continued as the trustee of M.C.C. funds and property devoted to the migration and resettlement of Mennonite refugees. During the year our people made available through contributions and loans $620,905.16, of which about $500,000 was used to cover refugee transportation, maintenance, family equipment, land, cattle, and industrial equipment. An additional $80,000 were used for general operating expenses.

An account of the past year's work would not be complete without mentioning the role of the International Refugee Organization. The I.R.O. financed a large amount of the care and maintenance for Mennonite camps at Gronau and Bachnang and furnished ocean transportation for all the Charlton Monarch and General Stuart Heintzelman passengers from Bremerhaven to South America. In addition, 938 of the Volendam passengers were provided transportation to Buenos Aires by I.R.O. In spite of the difficulty experienced in maintaining our I.R.O. eligibility status during the past several years, the M.C.C. owes a deep debt of gratitude to the I.R.O. for providing both transportation and finances for the movement of Mennonite refugees.

III. Peace Section

The effort to serve the constituency in promoting the peace witness has been continued through contacts and observation in Washington, liaison with other peace groups, research, publications, and peace education.

On June 24 the Selective Service Act of 1948 became a law. This draft law introduced a new type of provision for C.O.'s, namely deferment. Although the provision itself seems quite favorable, there has been some difficulty in securing proper classification according to the regulations of this law. The National Service Board for Religious Objectors serves the function of interpreting the draft law regulations and implications, and giving advice accordingly.

A booklet Before You Decide was completed this year and has been widely distributed. The first German translation of M.C.C. peace literature, Muessen Christen Kriegen, has been completed in published form.

A new development in Peace Section emphasis this year has been peace education through peace institutes and peace teams. One-day institutes have been held in several places with very encouraging reactions. During June and July a peace team of three young men served in Ontario, going from church to church with the nonresistant message.

The peace witness in Europe was also continued by H. S. Bender until his return in August. Since that time various M.C.C. workers in Europe have continued this witness in a part-time or incidental fashion. Actually, of course, the peace testimony is a part of the total spiritual witness which accompanies M.C.C. relief work. Funds contributed for the Peace Section work totaled $8,992.17.

IV. Voluntary Service

The increased interest in Voluntary Service during 1949 has been normal in some respects and somewhat abnormal in other ways. The normal growth was evidenced particularly by the larger number of short-term volunteers, both summer and winter, by individual Mennonite groups setting up Voluntary Service programs, and by the general acceptance of Voluntary Service as a development to be encouraged by the various conference bodies. There is clear evidence, however, that the C. O. deferment caused many more who had not served previously to consider concretely the giving of at least a year of service.

The one-year-or-more Voluntary Service plan had been operating and growing several years before the present draft law. The framework for this program was officially set by M.C.C. in 1946. We believe that the peacetime program which had been in operation before the draft, has helped to give stability to the program now, and provides a good basis on which a continuing Voluntary Service program may grow.

Throughout the year, 336 different individuals took part in the M.C.C. Voluntary Service program, generally for a period of one to twelve months. Of these, 62 were one-year volunteers, 220 summer workers, and 54 winter volunteers. New aspects of the 1948 program included the experimental units in Europe and Canada.

V. Mental Health Section

On December 2 the license authorizing the operation of Brook Lane Farm was received. The concept and purpose here continue to be that of endeavoring to care for patients who can benefit from the treatment facilities. To provide this type of service, and with space for 23 patients, approximately 14 workers will be required.

On the West Coast, a site for a hospital was purchased on May 17. One is grateful that this major initial step was possible and that the site seems to be so favorable for our purposes. The plan for this west coast beginning continues to be that of a 30-bed unit with central facilities for later expansion to a 100 bed hospital. Consideration is also being given to the procurement of a property in the central states area for similar development of mental hospital facilities.

Contributions for the Mental Health Section program amounted to $18,827.78.

VI. Menno Travel Service

The past year has seen this Mennonite travel agency recognized by various leading air and steamship lines, making it possible to offer a wide range of service to clients. Arrangements have been made for Menno Travel representatives in London, Basel, and Amsterdam. Services include reservations of various kinds; passport issuance assistance; procurement of visas; information on inoculations, clothing selection, visa requirements, baggage allowance; and various other details connected with travel. A total of 334 clients were served during the year. Menno Travel Service operates on a self-supporting financial basis.

VII. Mennonite World Conference

One significant undertaking of the M.C.C. in 1948 was the sponsoring of the Mennonite World Conference. This world-wide gathering of Mennonites took place at Goshen, Indiana, on August 3-5 and Newton, Kansas, 7-10. A total of 33 foreign guests from Europe and South America were able to attend the conference. The conference sessions centered on the various areas of the faith and life of our Mennonite Church. Following the conference many of the foreign delegates visited Mennonite churches, communities, and institutions to become better acquainted with American Mennonite life. Contributions to cover the expense of this conference totalled $19,117.41.

Mennonite Board of Education

By Nelson E. Kauffman, President

The growth of the number of all types of educational units in all sections of the Mennonite Church during the past three decades is without parallel in her four centuries of history. There has been developing throughout the past decade a consciousness throughout the whole church that we have a great responsibility for the education of our children from the elementary schools through to the seminary. The growth of Christian Day Schools reflects this conviction in all sections of the Church. It has only been within the past few years that the church has had a seminary. During the current year possibly 5,000 young people and children are attending Mennonite controlled schools. The Mennonite General Conference decided in its last annual meeting that the Mennonite Board of Education should be recognized as the official body in the church for correlating the total educational program of the church. It has become evident to all thinking people that the educational work of our church has great potentialities for unifying the church or promoting sectionalism. The growth of education itself is a real problem to the Board of Education. There is need for standardization especially in the elementary and secondary schools. There is need for the preparation of a larger number of teachers.

The interest of the church as a whole in the educational program was reflected in the special Board meeting held at Kitchener, Ontario, October 21-23, 1948. At this meeting there were representatives of every area of the church geographically and of every level of education. The problems presented in the revision of the Constitution indicate the growth of the Board's work and its attempt to prepare itself to assume the responsibilities assigned to it.

The Board is preparing to serve the various levels of education through councils. The first council to be organized was the Christian Day School Council. More recently a Secondary School Council was appointed by the Executive Committee. These councils serve in a correlating and in an advisory capacity to the Executive Committee. The conviction was expressed at the Kitchener meeting that there is also need for a seminary council. The Constitution provides for a council on each of the six different levels of education, elementary, secondary, winter Bible school, collegiate, nursing, and seminary.

The Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities Executive Committee has recommended that the Board of Education assume the responsibility for the La Junta Mennonite School of Nursing. The Board of Education at the Kitchener meeting decided to accept this responsibility when it has been decided upon by the Mission Board itself. The whole field of nursing education, therefore, becomes a responsibility of the Board of Education. The turn of events in plans for a hospital at Elkhart, Indiana, intensifies the problem of nursing education. The Board is seeking the will of God in this matter.

There are four imperatives which reflect the conviction of the Board as regards its educational responsibility in the future. First, all education in the church must be Christ centered. The Word of God must be the unifying and integrating factor in every curriculum. The students must be challenged to a life of service for Christ, and anything that militates against Christ and His church must be prohibited. Christ must be a real person on every campus and in every classroom so that any class may often be opened by prayer. Ours must not only be good Christian schools; they must be definitely, dynamically Mennonite. This also means that the church needs to prepare textbooks to enable our teachers to maintain this Christ-centered emphasis in all their teaching.

Second, the schools of the church must also have Spirit-filled, qualified teachers. All our schools, from elementary to seminary, are in search of teachers who have both spiritual and scholastic qualifications. More schools have been opened than can be staffed with qualified teachers. It is the hope of the Board that in the very near future this condition may be remedied and that in every schoolroom there will not only be teachers who qualify spiritually but who also are qualified academically. Teaching in a church school offers a superb opportunity to lead young people to the deeper things of God and to challenge them to a dynamic witness for Christ.

Third, it is also imperative that the church as a whole have a correlated program of Christian education. The histories of other denominations make clear to us that it is possible for our schools to blunder in this area and blunder seriously. It is the hope of the Board to secure the co-operation of the entire church in preparing and perpetuating a correlated program from elementary schools to seminaries.

Fourth, the ultimate goal of all church-controlled education should be to support the church in her great mission of bringing men and women to Christ and building them up in Him. The Board of Education has very strong convictions concerning this matter and is attempting to use every possible means to cause our schools to prepare for the church, loyal personal workers, ministers, missionaries, and workers in every vocation in life, that they may be dynamic witnesses for Christ wherever they serve.

The financial demands for the church are very large. It is the Board's concern that no more than the proper proportion of the amount of the church's funds should be channeled into educational work. It is clear to all who are responsible that we must not by our education hinder the church in its mission in missions, relief, and service to our fellow men. At the same time it is clear to all that the schools must prepare the workers, else the work of the church cannot be done. The building budgets of all our schools will continue to be large. We feel, however, that the church is ready to give when she sees that her schools are producing young men and young women who are strong for Christ and for the Church. The Board desires the prayers and co-operation of the entire brotherhood. Suggestions and helpful criticisms are always welcome.

Mennonite Publication Board

By O. N. Johns, Secretary

The Mennonite Publication Board is now an organization doing a volume of business through the Mennonite Publishing House and five branch bookstores, amounting to approximately one million dollars annually. There has been a rapid growth in the organization and an extraordinary growth in the volume of business so that we have outgrown the building space at the Publishing House at Scottdale. At present an annex to the building at Scottdale is being erected. This additional space is much needed and will be very much appreciated by the workers of the House. The total cost of this building will be about $240,000.

To meet this need we are asking our constituency in the United States and Canada to contribute a portion of this money. The building belongs to the church. We have been serving the church and shall continue to serve the church in the advancement of the cause of Christ and in disseminating the Gospel of Jesus Christ through the printed page. This is no small task, neither is it of little importance.

The new building is well under way. The shortage of steel delayed the work a few months, but now the contractor is completing the building as rapidly as possible. The Lord has blessed with exceptionally good weather and thus the work could continue with very little delay. We hope to have the building completed and occupied by June or probably a little sooner. By that time we will need the money for the final payment. Have you done your share? You can help with a cash donation, an annuity, or a life subscription to the Gospel Herald or Christian Monitor.

Our Weaver Bookstore building, Lancaster, Pa., was no longer adequate for the large volume of business done there; so it was remodeled and enlarged during this last year. This will be an asset to the store and that community.

Not only are we thinking of the building program, but we are also planning and providing for some additions in the publishing program.

The Board in 1947 already authorized the printing of bulletins to supply our churches which are already using the weekly bulletin and also others who may become interested in the same. This service will begin April 1.

A monthly teacher's magazine is also planned to take the place of some of our present teachers' Sunday-school lesson quarterlies. This we hope to have in some form by 1950. Adding new publications and making revisions are no small task and take thought, time, and effort, and also money. It calls for editors and other additional workers. The House is in need of more workers now.

New graded lessons by Mennonite authors are being prepared for pupils of preschool age in our Sunday schools. These lessons are not based on the International Uniform Series. A teacher's manual goes with each one of the three sets of lessons.

Besides these there will be helps for primary pupils, junior pupils, intermediate pupils, young people's pupils, and adult pupils.

A maximum subsidy of $4,000 was granted to the tract work for this year.

Steps were taken to improve the State Savings and Retirement Plan for the House workers. The following principles are being kept in mind in the review of the plan: (1) Biblical and church standards; (2) additional benefits to workers; (3) legal requirements; (4) financial soundness.

It was also recommended to the Commission for Christian Education that the Curriculum Committee be authorized to invite representatives of groups using our Christian education materials, or which may be interested in using them, to meet with it upon such occasions when the committee feels that the interests of such groups are involved.

The Publishing Agent has been authorized to consider further the question of producing literature in foreign languages as a help to our missionaries and relief workers in promoting the cause of Christ in their various fields.

Plans are made to hold the next annual meeting of the Board at Scottdale. At this time a dedication service for the next annex will also be held.

The Lord has richly blessed the work of the Board, the Publishing House, and each of the branch bookstores. We are grateful for these blessings, and in expression of our thanks, we would continue to glorify Him and exalt the name of Christ and promote His cause through every avenue possible.

We also appreciate the response and co-operation of our conferences, congregations, and individual members. We wish to be a help to you and your homes, as much as we possibly can through our Publishing House and bookstores.

"We are labourers together with God."

Mennonite Commission for Christian Education

By John R. Mumaw, Chairman

This organization since the date of its constitution has been meeting semiannually. In the year 1948 a deviation from this pattern was authorized by the Commission in a regular session and designated the month of June as the time for a single meeting to cover the work for the year. This plan was adopted to accommodate a request from the Pacific Coast Conference to have the biennial meeting of the Commission to which are invited conference representatives, in the vicinity of Portland, Oregon. The reports of officers and committees were carefully planned to stimulate interesting and profitable discussions regarding the various types of teaching work being done in the church. There was in this meeting a splendid spirit of fellowship, co-operation, group thinking, and aggressive planning.

At the meeting of the Commission in Oregon, a number of actions covering the work of the Commission became effective by action of the organization. A special committee making a study of functions and organization of the Commission brought in specific recommendations. Among the actions that were adopted was one designating the Field Secretary as editor of the Commission Handbook, and that a larger portion of the annual be devoted to promotional effort. It was also agreed at this time that in addition to working through the district secretaries we encourage a more direct approach to the local congregations by Commission representatives and district secretaries working co-operatively. It was agreed that we supplement district efforts by assistance to the local congregations wherever the call may justify such direct contact.

A major task of the organization at this meeting was the consideration and final adoption of the constitution for the Mennonite Youth Fellowship. This organization which receives its sponsorship from the secretary of young people's activities is thereby directly related to the Commission. This new organizational provision is designed to be of service to the church wherever it is desired.

Major Emphasis 1949

A very carefully planned program of adult education was outlined by the Field Secretary. His recommendations were adopted point by point and were set in motion under the slogan, Nourished in Faith and Doctrine. This is a major effort to increase activity in our churches to provide adult indoctrination. This plan is carefully outlined in the Commission Handbook and deserves careful reading by all church leaders.

Curriculum Committee

The Commission received the gratifying report from the Curriculum Committee indicating that the summer Bible school materials were nearly all in use during the summer of 1948. The reception of this material was far beyond expectation. The committee reported that it is continuing to work on the improvement of Sunday-school materials and plans to give further attention to the building of the curriculum for weekday Bible schools.

Sunday Schools

The secretary of Sunday schools made a survey of Sunday-school teaching with a questionnaire in a cross section of the church. The returns from this survey indicate that the majority of our Sunday-school teachers are over thirty years of age. It is interesting to note that well over 50 per cent of our teachers have had some special Bible training. This represents an item of progress in our Sunday-school work. It is hoped that the Commission may be able to furnish additional stimulus and encouragement to improve the efficiency of the teaching work in the Sunday school. There is under preparation A Manual for Sunday-School Efficiency. The Sunday schools throughout our constituency are now in the process of changing the beginning of the fiscal year from January 1 to October 1. It is hoped that there will be a general co-operation in using this date.

Young People's Bible Meetings

The quarterly magazine providing materials for the young people's Bible meeting is now serving a large place in the guidance of these meetings throughout the church. Program Builder is designed to give topic materials as well as guidance in the conduct of the meetings. It offers suggestions to vary the type of meeting. The first year of topics from the five-year cycle are appearing on our programs in 1949. We believe this series of topics will provide a good distribution of doctrinal emphases.

Summer Bible Schools

The summer Bible schools continue to enjoy a healthy growth. With the splendid curriculum materials that are now available, we believe the effectiveness of this teaching agency will be greatly increased. The reports from these schools continue to show a desirable outreach among children of non-Mennonite parentage. This teaching agency has a wider missionary scope than any other under the guidance of the Commission. We trust that God will continue to use it as a means of reaching many unsaved boys and girls with the Gospel.

Weekday Bible Schools

The Supreme Court decision on the Campaign, Illinois, case has not seriously affected the type of weekday Bible schools that are in most prominent use in our constituency. Special efforts have been spent in promoting the mid-week type of Bible school for our boys and girls. The teachers' manuals that were produced by a committee of the Lancaster Conference continue to be the best current materials for this purpose. The Curriculum Committee is continuing to keep aware of the task assigned to it in this area. It is hoped that these materials may be revised and improved for greater efficiency in the midweek teaching program.

Christian Workers' Training

The Christian workers' training courses continue to serve a great purpose in the training of teachers for various teaching agencies in the church. A pattern of recognition has been adopted which provides for a Christian workers' training diploma, a teacher's training diploma, and a missionary training diploma. These are granted upon the completion of elective units of study selected from the various divisions outlined in the Christian workers' training course. A folder describing these courses is available and can be secured through the secretary of Christian workers' training.

Young People's Activities

As indicated above the major activity of this secretariats has been devoted largely to the planning and inaugurating of the Mennonite Youth Fellowship. The Commission approved a constitution for the organization. It is now set up with three departments of service. The general areas of the work of this organization are: (1) faith and practice; (2) fellowship; (3) extension and missions. Each of these areas of activity is under the leadership of a secretary and the secretaries with the officers of the organization constitute the council. It is the purpose of the Fellowship to provide a service to our constituency which will strengthen, revitalize, and supplement the existing organizations for youth activities.

Missionary Education

The Commission continues its sponsorship of missionary education in a joint relationship with the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. The secretary of this area has been active in sponsoring the preparation of missionary guides for various mission fields. These have proved to be very stimulating and helpful to local congregations where they have been used. The list of these mission study courses includes Africa, The Church Among Uprooted Americans, The Christian and Race, India, and China. The secretary of missionary education continues to promote missionary projects but feels this more logically belongs to the secretary of young people's activities.

Home Interests

There is a growing conviction among leaders of the church that more specific help should be given to pastors to enable them to give a better counseling service in dealing with problems of family life. This secretaryship continues to urge every family to conduct family worship in the home. There is an effort underway by which this division is offering a service to newly established homes giving guidance to husband and wife in matters pertaining to marital and home relationships. It is felt that a great deal more activity is needed in this area and that more contacts between the church and the home are essential to a growing and expanding church.

Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

By Ira J. Buckwalter, Treasurer

Home Missions

Home missions under the direction of the Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, or sponsored by local congregations, are slowly increasing in number. The Mission Directory of the Missionary Messenger lists twenty-three city missions and eighteen rural missions. Four more than a year ago are listed. At Palo Alto, in the coal regions of Eastern Pennsylvania, a work was started by the New Holland-Groffdale district in an abandoned church building. The building was purchased by this district and deeded to the Mission Board. A Sunday school has recently been opened with good interest in another location in the southern suburbs of Lancaster City. Work was begun at Manchester in York County, and also at Locust Grove in Snyder County under the direction of the Juniata County brethren. The witness is being extended in Alabama. A small church was built during the year in Escambia County. Brother and Sister Richard Kling left on November 22 for this field to strengthen the force there. At Oxford Village, a suburb of North Philadelphia, a basement building is in the process of being built to relieve a badly overcrowded condition by reason of the Sunday school meeting in a private home. Steps are being taken to open work in a closed church building in Union County. The Ybor City Spanish Mission in Tampa, Florida, opened the fall day school term with kindergarten and first and second grades. The conference is following with interest this experiment of conducting a Christian day school as a part of the mission program. The Coatesville Mission is operating a branch work for Negroes in a home in the area where the Negroes live. An organization of workers in missions for Negroes promoted several fellowship, prayer, and workers' meetings during the year in the interest of the witness to the Negro people.

Jewish Work

The committee and workers appointed in the interest of bringing the Gospel to the Jew have been active. A meeting is held in Lancaster the first Monday evening of each month in the interest of this work; an annual all-day meeting is also held. Brother Isaac Baer is continuing his relief investigation work in Jewish

Junior Activities

This area of work is devoted to the junior division of church life. It is encouraging such projects as summer camps, craft activities, junior sewing circles, junior missionary projects, junior Bible meetings, junior midweek meetings, and weekday Bible classes for juniors. The most tangible effort in this division is expressed through the preparation of program materials for the junior Bible meeting in Program Builder. Additional efforts are being made to promote junior activities and to give help to those who are engaged in junior leadership. It is hoped that this will help to strengthen the life of the church and will tend to stabilize our boys and girls for meaningful membership in the church.

centers in Europe in the interest of opening mission work. Brother and Sister Lloyd Weaver of the Lancaster Vine Street congregation left for full-time work among the Jews at Newport News, Virginia. Brother Weaver was a member of our Board.

African Mennonite Mission

The Lord has continued to bless the labors of the missionaries on the African field. The revival is continuing to do a work of grace in the lives of the missionaries as well as in the members of the native church. The native church is taking more seriously the task of evangelism. The mission is also expanding in the areas of education, girls' work, and medical work. To date nearly $5,000 has been contributed by the home church during this year for medical equipment including an X-ray machine requested from the field. Health on the field is good. Adult missionaries on the field total twenty-two with a number preparing to return at this writing. A new accounting system was installed during the year under the direction of Sister Rhoda Hess who was sent to the field early in the year as a short-term worker.

Ethiopia

The Board's representatives in Ethiopia, Brother and Sister Daniel Sensenig, have received official approval from the government to open mission work in the country. During the past summer, a number of investigation trips have been made. A desirable site was located and steps are being taken to begin building operations soon. A program requiring about twenty workers is being envisioned for this field.

Central America

At this writing Brother Henry Garber, President of our Board, and Brother Jacob Brubaker, pastor of the East Chestnut Street congregation, Lancaster, are making an investigation of probable mission fields in Central America.

Relief and Immigration

Our brotherhood have responded well to the various appeals that have come to relieve human suffering. The Board serves as the channel through which the relief and immigration funds from Lancaster Conference, also from the Old Order Amish groups of Lancaster County, are directed in supporting the Mennonite Central Committee program in these areas.

Voluntary Services

The newest field of activity undertaken by the Board is that of short-term voluntary service. Brother Raymond Charles has been appointed director of this program. He, working with the Executive Committee of the Mission Board, will seek to encourage and administer projects which are needy and worthy, and which will give an opportunity for many to give a short period of time to the Lord's work. This will need to expand as rapidly as possible into a program to provide for terms of service of a year or more.

Itinerant Committee

The committee under the Board has been sponsoring itinerant work in the South, mainly in Alabama. It directs a few full-time workers and sponsors a number of summer Bible schools. A number of permanent missions in Alabama under the Board has been an outcome of this work.

Miscellaneous

The second Missionary Training Institute was held at the Norris Square Mission in Philadelphia. This proved equally as successful as the one held last year. A suitable building was erected on ground donated by the Paradise Mennonite Church for the use of the Sewing Circle's Cutting Room operated by the Associated Sewing Circles of Lancaster Conference.

The Last Summons

Sister Mary Greider, wife of Howard Greider, Vice-Chairman of the Board, answered the heavenly summons during the year.

On October 31 at the Welsh Mountain Samaritan Home, Brother Noah H. Mack quietly fell asleep in Jesus. This home was the scene of his early mission efforts. His concern and counsel will be missed not only in the meeting of the Bishop Board, but also in the deliberations of the joint Mission and Bishop Boards.

Finance

Receipts for the year will be approximately the same as last year, or about $275,000. Mission receipts have been somewhat higher and relief contributions lower. Costs are high, but the brotherhood has responded well. When one considers the expansion planned in various areas, it will be necessary for the level of giving to be increased. This opportunity to serve, we believe the brotherhood will meet as it is kept informed.

Lancaster Mennonite School

By Noah G. Good, Dean

The passing of another year finds Lancaster Mennonite School showing an appreciable amount of growth in numbers. The increasing interest in education among our Mennonite young people compels our schools to give attention to expanding facilities for the accommodation of larger student bodies and giving larger offerings. This year found Lancaster Mennonite School in need of more dormitory space. In other ways the school has been asked to carry a bigger student load than the present facilities can well take care of. We think of this growth as a definite indication of the Lord's blessing and a challenge to give greater service to the Church.

Bible Departments: The above figures include 7 students, 5 in ninth grade and 2 in twelfth grade who are registered as elementary Bible students.

Curriculum

There has been little change in the curriculum. Four years of work are offered in each of the following: English, mathematics, social studies, sciences, and Latin. Two years of work are offered in each of the following: German, typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping. A call for agriculture and shop was considered, but the Board of Trustees decided to delay the addition of agriculture. Bible and music are offered. The Bible curriculum offers two full years of Bible study and related subjects. Five music courses are offered, Music I, Senior Chorus, Junior Chorus, Boys' Chorus, and Girls' Chorus.

Extracurricular Activities

An attempt is made to encourage learning activity in a number of areas in which it has not yet been possible to set up full courses of study. No credit is offered for these activities, but the activities are planned to give the student experiences which will have life values. Some of these activities are: agriculture, public speaking, writing, tract band, first aid, campus improvement, shop, art, needlecraft, prayer circles, student programs, and others. Into this area would fall also the class meetings, school paper, and school annual.

Health and Recreation

With the increased enrollment it was necessary to use the gymnasium of former years for auditorium and provide for recreation outside. The three tennis and basketball courts with tarvia surface are expected to make it possible to have activity during nearly all of the year. With our large campus it has been possible to provide ample space for recreational activity. For indoor recreation there is a recreation room provided with equipment to play a variety of indoor games.

The year's schedule includes three types of health examinations, a chest X-ray examination, a dental examination, and a medical examination. We are in need of an infirmary, and some thought is being given to this need, but at present we are taking care of the few cases of sickness that come up in the rooms where the students room.

Plans for Expansion

The Board of Trustees has taken first steps to erect a new dormitory for girls which is to be available for the 1949-1950 school term. At present only a small part of our dormitory girls can room in the main dormitory. The Board of Trustees has also taken action to open another school in the Mount Joy area. This school is to have facilities for day students only and is planned now for grades nine and ten. No definite steps have been taken at the time of this writing to open a high school in the Weaverland area, but there is interest and there seems to be a need for it.

Religious Activity

In addition to the regular opening exercises there are several student and school planned activities intended to build up the spiritual life of the school and the individual. Morning watch is a period each morning in which each student is expected to be active in Bible reading and devotion. All dormitory students are expected to attend the regular prayer circles in the evening before study period. For day students there is one prayer circle period a week. One period a week is given to a student religious program. Several weeks each year are assigned for a special religious effort when an evangelist speaks to the student and teacher group twice daily and urges a deeper consecration of lives. Special attention is given in a series of talks to problems of personal relationships along the lines of social conduct. The student pastor, Brother Amos Weaver, is again giving a large part of his time to counseling with students to give help and discover problems along spiritual lines.

Guidance and Counseling

In the interest of understanding pupils and giving them more help, a very complete information file is kept. Help is being given to students in planning their courses, and in planning their educational work beyond high school. A record is kept of graduates after they leave school and an attempt is made to keep informed about the activities of former students. With the school's growth in numbers there is need for further study of this area of our work. An attempt is being made to build an anecdotal file and regular contacts with the homes of pupils.

Distribution of Patronage

We appreciate the hearty and helpful support this school has had from the membership of Lancaster Conference, by whom this school is sponsored. We are also very thankful to the Lord and the church that a number of very fine students were sent to us from the surrounding conference bodies, and one from as far as California. We are thankful constantly for the good support of our people in this work. As the work grows, there will be need for more teachers, more money for buildings, and more prayers that the work may grow in the direction of greatest blessing and usefulness.

Bishop Noah Haldeman Mack (1861-1948)

By J. Paul Graybill

The person who was known by this well-known name has now ceased his earthly labors and has gone to his eternal reward. Noah Haldeman Mack, son of Bishop Andrew Stauffer Mack and Elizabeth Haldeman Mack was born in Douglass Township, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania on February 1, 1861. After a long, varied, and useful life he finished his course on October 30, 1948, while staying at the Good Samaritan Home near New Holland, Pennsylvania, thus reaching the age of 87 years, 8 months, 30 days. He remembered the draft for the Civil War and the shooting of Abraham Lincoln. He was reared in the German language but made progress in English school after a few years. He was fortunate in having a grandmother in the home who had time to instruct this young boy in the things of the Lord. His father wanted him to know English; so he sent him to a school in an English community in East Vincent Township, Chester County. Above the common school he attended four spring terms at the Perkiomen Seminary (Academy) at Pennsburg, Pennsylvania, beginning in the spring of 1878. At the age of seventeen he started teaching school in Berks County at a salary of $28 per month. He taught one year in Montgomery County also. He was invited in the fall of 1880 to teach school in Lancaster County, which invitation he accepted in the fall of 1881. He later felt this was providential, for it brought him to the scene of his life's labors. He was baptized by his father and received into fellowship at the Hereford Church, now Bally, during the summer of 1881. In the spring of 1882 he taught a six-week subscription school at the Earl Union Schoolhouse in the Weaverland section, the main object being the teaching of German. While in that community, communion was to be observed, and he asked permission from Bishop George Weaver to commune. Bishop Weaver readily consented to this but added that they practice feet washing there. Bishop Weaver knew that feet washing was not observed in the Franconia section at that time. Brother Mack replied that he was favorable to this and knew that his father was much in favor of practicing this ordinance. His father through the years had encouraged this ordinance and saw it begun in the Franconia Conference in his lifetime. He continued his schoolteaching in Lancaster County until the spring of 1900, thus teaching 22 years. He was occasionally a speaker at county institutes.

Brother Mack was early an advocate of missionary and other aggressive work in the church. He was the first superintendent of the Groffdale Sunday School, organized in 1893. He has written a history of the Groffdale Sunday School (unpublished). He was an active promoter of missions in the Lancaster Conference in the early movement to establish missionary work. In 1899 he became the first superintendent of the Welsh Mountain Industrial Mission. That was in the early days of Mennonite missions. Broommaking was carried on; a shirt factory and general store were conducted; and strawberries were grown on a commercial scale. These industrial activities have since ceased, and the mission building is used as the Good Samaritan Home for the Aged. The building formerly used as a shirt factory and later as a public school for the Negro people is now the chapel for the missionary work being conducted there. He continued his work there until 1910, when he moved to New Holland. On August 30, 1900, he was ordained to the ministry for the Groffdale-Metzler congregations. On the occasion of his ordination he had an unusual experience. Some years previous to this he had a call of the Lord to the ministry, but had not been called by the church, though he shared the lot a few times before. He was losing faith in the lot. He had a severe struggle as this ordination drew on. On this occasion as the service was proceeding and before the lot was placed, he fell into a trance in which he saw the books placed. The lids of his book became transparent and he saw the lot paper in this book. After that experience, he was a strong advocate of the use of the lot.

During the early years of his ministry, he was very active in evangelistic work in the home communities and also in other states. The most remarkable revival experience was at Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania, where the meetings continued for three weeks and there were one hundred and thirty-two confessions, mostly adults. Another experience he used to relate was at the West Liberty Church in Kansas; here were thirteen converts, nine to thirteen years of age. In connection with these meetings someone of the congregation suggested that these children are school companions and are not accepting Christ because of conviction. This thought was distressing to him. This discouraging thought concerning this service he carried with him for many years but in about 1936 Phebe Yoder of Kansas was asked to accept mission work in the Lancaster Conference mission in Africa. She later met him as a member of the Examining Committee. He asked her whether they had ever met before. She responded that she was one of his converts at the West Liberty Church, a child of nine years. He further inquired of the other converts and learned that they were all faithful church members.

He was ordained as assistant bishop to Bishop Benjamin Weaver for the Weaverland-Groffdale district on January 23, 1919, at the age of fifty-eight years. He had been active in church work for a number of years already and at the time of this ordination felt the great responsibility of the work and went through an unusual experience previous to his ordination. But with the grace of God he was willing to resign himself to this important responsibility. Because there had been no resident bishop in the York-Adams County district for about thirty years, plans were made to supply this vacancy. After due consideration by the Board of Bishops of the conference and the necessary counseling of congregations, Brother Mack was transferred from the Weaverland-Groffdale district to the York-Adams County district on February 26, 1926. A few years before this transfer, he had a personal call from the Lord that this would be his responsibility but waited for the church to confirm his call. After being located in the York-Adams County district, he was also asked to assist in the Cumberland County district because of the age and inability of Bishop Benjamin Zimmerman. In 1935 Richard Danner was chosen by lot and ordained by Brother Mack as an assistant in the York-Adams County district. In 1926 John M. Sauder was ordained to succeed Brother Mack as assistant bishop to Benjamin Weaver in the Weaverland-Groffdale district. Upon the sudden death of John M. Sauder, Brother Mack was asked to take up temporarily the work in the Weaverland district until a successor was chosen. J. Paul Graybill was ordained on December 6, 1939. This district was in the process of division at the time of Brother Sauder's death and Mahlon Witmer was ordained for the western end of the district on August 30, 1939. For a number of years Brother Mack had bishop oversight of the Tampa, Florida, mission congregations also. He was secretary of Lancaster Conference from 1921 to 1930, and was succeeded by John H. Mosemann. He also served as assistant moderator for a few years. He served from its beginning on the Examining Committee for the examining of prospective missionaries, for about thirty years. He was a teacher in the Special Bible Term of Eastern Mennonite School from 1923 to 1933, except 1924 and 1926. When the Special Bible Term was inaugurated in Lancaster Conference at Ephrata in 1939, he was on the teaching staff and continued for a few years. He was interested in young people and their development. The higher education work of the church gave him much concern. He felt a four-year high school in the Lancaster Conference district was needed to protect our young people from the influences of the public high school. When the school began he conducted the service for the dedication of the faculty and the school. The last few years, because of his increasing age, he resigned his administrative responsibilities, except that he retained his work as senior bishop in the York-Adams County district.

He was a man of mental ability. Sometimes he was not so much appreciated since he had a rather stern appearance, although at other times he was quite jovial, and since he also was quite free to express strong criticism. But for those who knew him best, he exemplified a humbleness of mind and spiritual devotion that won him fast friends. He was a strong advocate of spiritual devotion as his many testimonies concerning spiritual experiences with the Lord, divine intimations, visions, etc., indicated. He was a strong advocate of the teaching on cross-bearing and self-denial. He was also very much concerned that nonresistance and nonconformity be maintained as important New Testament principles for the Mennonite Church to observe. He would often refer to the history of New Testament doctrines coming down from our forefathers through "blood and tears." On the writer's return, eight days before Brother Mack's death, from the special conference on nonconformity in dress held in Chicago, which was attended by representatives from the various conferences, Brother Mack, even though weak, wanted to know what was the sentiment of the church throughout as represented by the group present. He had traveled much in his years and was more or less acquainted with conditions in other states. After some explanation, his last statement to the writer was, "If the Mennonite Church does not adhere to the use of a distinctive form, she will lose out on non-conformity."

Brother Mack lived through the unusual awakening experiences of the Mennonite Church at the turn of the century and the decades following, during which the church launched an aggressive mission program, Sunday-school work, and church school work, and promoted general spiritual emphases and Christian activities in various lines. He was a helper in this aggressive work.

He and his companion were not blest with any children of their own, but they reared two girls. The first, Anna Nolls Bailey, was adopted and received the Mack name and was married to Monroe Good. The second girl, Anna Mae Ackerman, was married to Alvin Horning. Both of these, with Sister Mack, have preceded Brother Mack in death a number of years, but both of these girls left a number of grandchildren as survivors.

His funeral was held from the Good Samaritan Home where he had been staying for a number of years and was conducted by Bishop Mahlon Witmer of the Groffdale district. Brother Mack had planned his funeral arrangements and these were carried out as planned as nearly as possible. Further services were held at the Groffdale Church. Bishop W. W. Graybill, moderator of the Lancaster Conference, and a long associate of Brother Mack, conducted the devotional service. Richard Danner, of the York-Adams County district and J. Paul Graybill of the Weaverland district, his successors in their respective districts, brought the messages from Philippians 1:21 and Acts 13:36, respectively. Arthur Ruth of the Franconia district led in prayer and Noah W. Risser, assistant moderator of the conference, conducted the grave service. A large audience signified the respect in which Brother Mack was held. A very large number of ordained people were present, among them twenty-four bishops. Interment was made in the Groffdale cemetery. In preparing the facts for the obituary he concluded with the following: "Thanks are to be extended to all in a general way, to all especially who rendered service and sympathy in any manner in connection with sickness and death and funeral. God be with you till we meet in heaven, where there are no funerals, nor pains nor tears."

Bishop Moses H. Schmitt (1876-1948)

By J. C. Fretz

Bishop Moses H. Schmitt was the son of John Schmitt and Magdalene Hallman. He was born near Baden, Ont., August 13, 1876, in a family of three sons and five daughters. His brother, Jonathan, resides at Red Deer, Alta.; Herman, in Kitchener, Ont.; his sister Elizabeth was wife of Bishop Israel R. Shantz at Carstairs, Alta., then of Abram Wambold, High River, Alta., and later of Joseph Weber, Waterloo County, Ontario. His sister Susannah was married to Jacob Erb, Waterloo; his sister Leah was Mrs. Levi Cressman, mother of John Cressman of Braeside home, Preston, Ont.; his sister Adeline was Mrs. Moses Baer, Sr., of New Dandee; and his sister Lucinda married Ervin Snyder, Guernsey, Sask. His grandfather was preacher George Schmitt of Upper Street, Baden, whose wife was Salome Becker. At the age of sixteen his parents moved to the Natchez district, east of Kitchener. The Moses Schmitt family consisted of four sons, Delton and John Maynard who died in infancy; Lloyd and Leighton of Waterloo County, Ont.; and one daughter Naomi, Mrs. Osias Gingerich, Elmira, Ont.

In 1901 he left Ontario to homestead in the Canadian West near Carstairs, Alta. In 1902 Leah Weber went west, and they were the first couple to be married in the new West Zion Church, Israel R. Shantz, his brother-in-law, officiating. He was superintendent of the Sunday school at West Zion until his ordination for deacon in 1910. In 1915 he was ordained to the ministry by Bishop Norman Stauffer to serve wherever needed. He assisted in the services at Mayton in his early ministry. In 1917 he was appointed as minister for the newly organized mission known as Clearwater near Youngstown several miles east of Drumheller, Alta. After a few years the families there became discouraged because of drought, and began moving out. In 1919 he was called to the Sharon congregation, Guernsey, Sask. There he labored for the remainder of his career in Western Canada. In 1928 he was ordained bishop of the Sharon congregation and served there until 1940 when he came east. Bishop Nicholas Roth officiated in the ordination assisted by Bishop Isaac Miller.

While his purpose for going west was to seek out a home for his family, yet he considered this secondary to the greater call of the church for a spiritual contribution. As an agriculturist he led an exemplary life of thrift, which made it interesting for his sons to follow similar pursuits. He filled his place in turn as delegate to General Conference. He assisted in the early winter Bible Schools among the western churches and acted as instructor for one or two terms. He kept orderly records of the work of the church pertaining to his office. In a few places he served as evangelist. His labors in the Western Conference through the formative years for the congregations, made it especially appropriate that a man of his gifts should labor among them for encouragement and building, for harmony and adjustment to the new conditions and surroundings. The form of extension in those years was by beginning new congregations and organizing Sunday schools and regular preaching appointments.

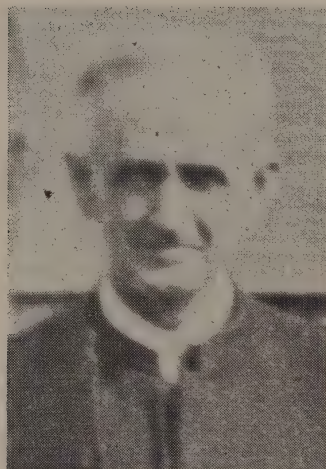

Brother Schmitt was converted during the John S. Coffman revivals about 1892 or 1893. In conference and church work Moses Schmitt excelled as a counselor and peacemaker. He was a soul-winner through personal work and visitation. As a counselor in family problems his advice was frequently sought and proved many times effectual. His foresight was with consideration and wisdom. He was a peace-loving member of Conference, a good committee man, with conviction, humble, of mild disposition, and not easily disturbed. He was diligent in respect to the stranger. At Youngstown and at Guernsey his services were frequently sought for funeral occasions among the non-Mennonites.

He moved back to Ontario in 1940 because of health conditions; his two sons, Lloyd and Leighton, came also. He never accepted further appointment for congregational responsibility in the East. His wife predeceased him August 14, 1944. After a lengthy illness, Brother Schmitt passed to his eternal reward at the Galt General Hospital, December 23, 1947, at the age of 72 years, having reached the allotted span of life. The funeral text was II Sam. 3:38.

John H. Gochnauer (1877-1948)

By Ira D. Landis

John H. Gochnauer

"Though ye have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers," and one of our fathers is again gone! Brother Gochnauer possessed an analytical intellect, yet he was sincerely interested in the spiritual growth of his entire flock. No labor was too great nor hardship too severe when he knew the deliberately, constructively, and pointedly in Lord was leading. His counsels were fatherly and his personality was enriching. He spoke pulpit or council. Of strongly Mennonite agricultural stock were Joseph Hersh Gochnauer and Anna Franck Hostetter, who established their home on the East Hempfield acres of his father. John H. (born April 9, 1877) was the second of three sons. He was educated in the one-room Oak Grove School near by, with one winter (1895-96) at the Millersville State Normal School. Being needed at home thereafter, he increased his store of knowledge by profuse spare-time reading. Though holding a teacher's provisional certificate, he heeded the call of agriculture.

In the fall of 1896 he gave his heart to the Lord, and in the spring of 1897 Jacob N. Brubacher received him into church fellowship at East Petersburg in a class of two (he and Mrs. David S. High). With a commodious new meetinghouse built the year prior and a Sunday school but four years old, John H. was serving faithfully in a teaching position.

It is not surprising that when in 1902 (December 4) Christian M. Lefever was ordained to the ministry, the father of John H. was at the head of the class and his son at the other. On January 24, 1907, when Frank N. Kreider was ordained, he was again in the class with ten others besides the one ordained.

On February 21, 1907, Sadie Baymond, daughter of William Baymond and Rebecca Weidman, of Manheim Township, was joined with him for life by Jacob N. Brubacher. God graciously blessed their home with three children: Clyde (who passed on in childhood), John, and Anna. John is the farmer and Anna in the home is the especial comfort of Mother in the present bereavement.

While serving faithfully in the Sunday school, at the age of forty-five, on August 15, 1922 he was called to the ministry by lot for his home congregation, East Petersburg. Abram Metzler, Sr., preached the sermon and Isaac H. Brubaker ordained him. Frank N. Kreider has been his senior co-worker for more than twenty-five years. He also shared the lot with Henry E. Lutz in 1930, with whom, as bishop, there has ever been an appreciated co-operation.

When first called, he took the charge so seriously that he lost appetite, sleep, and weight. His sermons, collected piecemeal during the day and night, were the result of deep meditation and prayer. His favorite expressions included: "I am not ashamed of the Gospel," and "The Uplifted Christ," and he frequently preached from Rom. 1:16 and John 12:32. His favorite hymns included: "Rock of Ages"; "Jesus, Lover of My Soul"; and recently, "Let Me Go Where Saints Are Going."

Early he was called to the evangelistic field locally. His first meetings were at Ephrata and the last ones, fifteen years later, at Strasburg. An operation in April, 1938, limited his pent-up possibilities, not only here but for the decade yet spared.

His deep-seated concern for conservatism within the church grew with the years. This vision he drew through the Holy Spirit from the Word, verified by church history. In later years he frequently referred to the Waldenses, Anabaptism and its leaders, and the Mennonite Church principles. He especially sounded warnings against heresies: "Security without faithfulness is a present-day heresy." One morning in 1947 at his home congregation, he spoke at length on the premise: "If the Scofield Bible were correct, I have been preaching the untruth for twenty-five years."

He believed that the Mennonite Church has two fundamental pillars: nonresistance and nonconformity. "With Scofield's erroneous teachings on the Sermon on the Mount and with the militaristic Bible schools of the day, don't wonder why so many young men enter the military." "Men lift up holy hands (I Tim. 2:8, 10) in modest apparel. Jesus wore His garments down to the foot (Rev. 1:13). What is the motive when we depart from church standards?"

"The church has defined modest apparel. Some of us are less careful." "We have fellowship (I John 1:7) in the same ship on an hostile ocean. Help us to strengthen the things that yet remain."

Brother Gochnauer was appointed to the Conference Tract Committee to take the place of Jacob H. Mellinger in 1934 and faithfully served in that work until death. When the Library Committee was first appointed in October, 1925, Bro. John was wisely included as one, and at his death was chairman of the same. When the Publication Board of the Mennonite Church requested this conference to appoint its quota in the fall of 1935, Bro. Gochnauer was asked to serve with Amos S. Horst and Henry H. Hershey. He made the trip to Oregon for the 1937 meeting and for General Conference. This was the first and last meeting he officially attended, though a member of the Board and deeply interested to the end. When the High School Board of Trustees opened the first Lancaster Conference high school, Lancaster Mennonite School, in the fall of 1942, he was vice-chairman of the Board, and his wise counsels had their decided bearing on the moulding before and since.

On January 29, 1948, he passed away at his East Petersburg residence to realize his earnest longing. A large concourse of those touched by his life assembled for the funeral services which were in charge of James B. Siegrist, Frank N. Kreider, Henry E. Lutz, and Amos S. Horst. The burial was in the cemetery near by.

He saw his home congregation increase during his ministry from 343 to 443, the number of church services doubled, and a thriving young people's meeting now in progress. He saw souls saved, encouraged, and established under his preaching. He saw a conference-wide educational program well founded. The church is the better since this servant of God has been loaned to us for a season. "He being dead, yet speaketh."—Adapted from the Christian Monitor.

Deacon Christian Snyder (1870-1948)

By Omar G. Miller

Christian Snyder was one of a group of young people in a small midwestern congregation from which an unusual number went out in definite service in the Mennonite Church. The earnestness, breadth of interest, and missionary zeal that seemed to inspire a number of these young people nurtured in this little Mennonite community of Adams County, Nebraska, in its early years, also found a vigorous expression in his life.

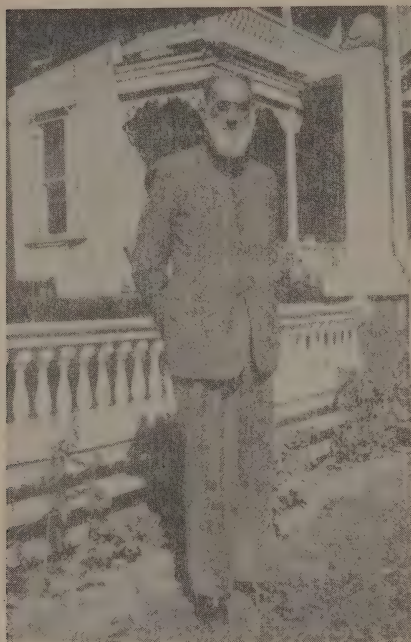

He was born April 4, 1870, near Freeport, Illinois; died at Canby, Oregon, March 10, 1948; age 77 y. 11 m. 6 d., and when he was fourteen years old he moved with his widowed mother to Ayr, Nebraska, where her two children, Jacob Snyder, and Hannah, wife of Daniel Burkhard, were already located. His father (a minister) had died when Christian was but two years old. His first marriage was to Jessie May Easter at Hastings, Nebraska, to which union three daughters were born. A second marriage, to Nancy Elizabeth Shupe in 1896, was blessed with two daughters and six sons. All but two of these children were living at the time of his death.

At the age of twenty-two, Brother Snyder was baptized by Bishop Albrecht Schiffler and received into the Roseland, Nebraska, Mennonite Church on August 25, 1892; and on September 25, 1902, when he was thirty-two years old, the same bishop ordained him to the office of deacon in the Roseland congregation where he served for a little over eleven years. Moving to Idaho in the fall of 1913, he became a charter member of the new congregation at Filer and served there for about four years. Then followed a brief sojourn to Duchess, Alberta, from March to October, 1917, where a new congregation was organized. The next move was to the Bethel congregation near Canby, Oregon, where he served until his death, completing forty-six and one-half years in the office of deacon.

While Brother Snyder was active and interested in the entire scope of the work of the church, and served in various capacities, throughout his ministry his highest zeal and devotion seemed to be in aggressive mission endeavor. Records of the Kansas-Nebraska Conference still in his possession at the time of his death show him as a speaker in the Sunday-school conference, a chorister, and in committee work. In the above district he served as treasurer of the Mission Board for five years. In his younger years he was active in song leading, and in promoting singing classes and song programs.

In the Pacific Coast Conference District he was vice-president of the first Mission Board of the merging conference (1921-22). He was then elected president, in which office he served for a period of twenty-three years. In 1944 he was relieved of official responsibilities and retained "as an honorary member of the Board" with full privileges. He has a record of perfect attendance at the meetings of the Board from the time of his becoming president. He was constantly alert to take advantage of opportunities for evangelism, and had ability to unite and direct the efforts and resources of the district in support of mission endeavor.

During the time of his service the mission projects of the district grew from a few scattered and sometimes sporadic efforts to a wide scope of established work. It is not here implied that his is the credit for this expansion, but he was interested in every opportunity and in many instances he gave help and encouragement to those who had the burden and conviction in behalf of these varied projects now under the Mission Board. These include two city missions, the calling and support of evangelists where needed, district tract colporteur, full-time workers among the Jews, a home for the aged, a children's home, a general hospital, and a rescue mission.

Deacon Christian Snyder

Other of his activities included being treasurer of the Church Conference, member of School Board (1923), member of District Church History Committee, Resolutions Committee, and others. In his home congregation, besides the regular work as deacon, he served as secretary-treasurer for many years. In all his work he felt the necessity of much counsel and visitation. To this end he used his own means and resources, seldom accepting help. There is no record, only God knows the many miles by auto, and the long hours in early life by horse-drawn vehicle that Brother Snyder spent in the service of the church.

In his home congregation he sought many years to establish a rural mission project for definite work through visitation in the community around the congregation, and in the spring of 1938 such a work was launched. After some months the greater part of the effort was transferred to a foothill community some distance from the congregation where it still continues.

He did not spare himself in his conviction that the work of the Lord was his first and highest duty. His life was characterized by devotion and faithfulness in whatever he considered his duty. He was especially careful in punctual and regular attendance at all meetings of the congregation. He always took his place when possible in official meetings. And he attended the general meetings of the church when possible, at which he became acquainted with most of the workers in the higher levels of responsibility.

On Saturday, March 6, 1948, the District Mission Board met at the Mennonite Home for the Aged, near Albany, Oregon. The high point of this meeting was the final decision of the Board to take over and operate the General Hospital of Lebanon. Brother Snyder was present and took part in the meeting. Early the following morning he had a severe heart attack which resulted in his death the following Wednesday. During these last days he expressed satisfaction in having been present at this meeting of the Board.

* The above tabulation represents contributions received by the Treasurer of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities including contributions received directly by the city missions and charitable institutions under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. Charitable contributions include only contributions that were received by the Treasurer and not payments made by patrons of the charitable institutions. Other contributions not included in this tabulation are annuities and district board contributions not forwarded to the Treasurer at Elkhart. Most of the contributions under General Fund of missions have been used for home work. Figures are for the fiscal year ending April 1.
